psychology of confidence

The way you show up in the world is highly impacted by what you wear on a daily basis. If you want to feel confident and empowered daily, it is important that your wardrobe and core values align.

During this session we'll explore what is most important to you in life and what it would look like for you to start showing up in a way that truly honours who you are.

In a safe and peaceful environment we'll discuss the things that hold you back from living life as your most authentic self.

I'll identify how that which makes you unique and wonderful connects to your personal style, and this will be my compass throughout the sessions to follow.

Includes:

- 1.5 hour in-person consultation where we explore and get clear on your value-led wardrobe needs.
- In-session activities.
- Location: Wanneroo, Western Australia 6065.

Style Journey Step 3

for both men and women

style essence analysis

Your face holds the key to your most beautiful style.

The face is the primary point of visual focus in human interaction, so naturally, it's the most important part of our bodies to take into account when choosing what to wear.

While the Body Geometry session (Step 4 of the Style Journey) will teach you how to dress for your unique bodily proportions, dressing for your face will have the biggest impact on you feeling like your most attractive self. Clothing elements near the face directly affect how your features and expressions are perceived.

It's the secret sauce that very few people know about.

Includes:

- I conduct a pre-session style essence analysis using a photo of your face.
- 2 hour in-person session where you try on outfits I've curated for you so we can confirm your unique style essence blend.
- In-session education throughout outfit try-ons. This is a super insightful session! Not to mention super duper fun.
- Comprehensive style essence blend report (pdf) providing a wealth of useful, practical suggestions on which types of clothing suit you best.

Style Journey Step 4

for both men and women

Body Geometry

For this session there will be no in-person meeting.

I will be using the photos I strategically took during our previous session (Style Journey Step 3) to conduct a thorough in-depth analysis of the the lines, proportions and silhouettes that suit your unique body type best.

Humans are very diverse and it is rare for someone to fall perfectly into one of the overly generalised body categories (yes, even into dear old Kibbe's system, if you are familiar with him). I use a combination of useful body typing systems and I look at your body in sections and as a unified whole to determine what is necessary in terms of clothing for the most visually pleasing results.

You'll understand which parts of your body are your greatest assets and how to optimise for that, and which body parts to accommodate for and how to do that.

Includes:

- A comprehensive, bespoke report discussing the outfits you tried on during our previous session with comments on each outfit to teach you what worked well, what didn't, and why. I'll provide my recommendations on how to improve those outfits and dress in a way that is objectively visually pleasing and honours your unique lines and proportions. All of this will be done while taking into account and staying within your Style Essence blend (determined in previous session).

The Grand Capsule

The greatest session of them all! A few weeks before the session, you'll provide me a shopping budget as well as photos of items already in your wardrobe that I can use to incorporate into a gorgeous capsule wardrobe for you that will make your closet your happy place.

In my preparation, I'll take into account your colour analysis results, your core values, your style essence blend and your body type and I'll buy and curate outfits for you (incl. shoes and accessories) that will maximize everything that makes you unique and wonderful.

In the session I'll showcase your wonderful new capsule wardrobe to you and show you how to style it. I'll also take photos of you in multiple variations of outfits so that you can use these for inspiration on the mornings that you need some mental ease.

Includes:

- 3 hour in-person session in a safe, peaceful space (not the shops!) where you try on your entire new capsule wardrobe that I bought and curated for you.
- You'll take your entire new capsule wardrobe home with you.
- For men, this package will include a haircut by an amazing barber.
- Beautiful photos of you in your new pieces styled multiple different ways.

Add-On Session Option 1

wardrobe audit

This session functions at the top of its game when having done a colour analysis and a style essence analysis beforehand.

For the wardrobe audit, I'll come to your house and we'll dive into your wardrobe.

During the session I'll let you try on garments in a systematic way and help you identify the garments that are winners, the garments that no longer serve you (we'll put these on the donation pile) and the garments that have potential (these ones might simply need to be paired with newly-bought pieces).

I'll form new outfits from your existing wardrobe that you might not have thought of previously and I'll take photos of these outfits for you so you can have them on hand for future reference.

I'll also identify gaps in your wardrobe and make a shopping list of staple pieces uniquely suited to you that would tie your wardrobe together and make your morning routine easy.

This session will let you see your wardrobe with new eyes and allow some fresh energy to be infused into the space where you get ready every morning. The way you start your day matters!

Session run-time: approx. 4 hours

Prerequisite: Style Essence Analysis

Add-On Session Option 2

personal shop

This session functions at the top of its game when having done the colour analysis, style essence analysis and body geometry analysis sessions beforehand.

The shopping session is incredibly fun and teaches you what to look for when you're at the shops.

You can choose the main focus for the session: for example, you might be looking for an outfit for an event, you might need a new wardrobe for the summer, or you might simply want me to come along to teach you how to identify your best colours in stores using your fabric swatch palette from your colour analysis session.

You'll provide me an estimated shopping budget a couple of weeks before the session, and based on your budget and my prior knowledge about your wardrobe needs, I'll select the shopping centre that will serve us best.

During the session I'll guide you to the stores I've selected, let you try on pieces and outfits, provide my commentary and be your general companion for any style-related questions you might have while we're out. My goal is to take the anxiety out of shopping for you.

Session run-time: 4 - 5 hours

Prerequisites: Style Elements Analysis

colour analysis methods

How colour analysis that is based on colour theory works (the basics):

Colours have 3 main properties that can be measured and make it possible to organize them into groups. These are:

1. Hue – how much yellow or blue the colour contains.
2. Value – how much white or black has been mixed into the colour.
3. Chroma – how pure or muted the colour is (how much grey it contains)

There are different methods of colour analysis out there. These include:

Tonal Colour Analysis Model (6 categories)

This method places you in a group based on your dominant colour characteristics. So you can be in one of the following tonal families: Light, Deep, Warm, Cool, Bright or Soft/Muted.

Seasonal Colour Analysis Models (4, 12 or 16 categories)

These models place you in one of four, twelve or sixteen categories based on a combination of your strongest colour properties.

The seasons are Autumn, Spring, Winter and Summer.

For most 12-category models, each of these seasons are broken down even further as you can see in the graph on the right.

my method

After having done a lot of research on the different methods of colour analysis and trialling their levels of effectiveness on friends, family and my earliest trial-clients, I've concluded that my favourite method of colour analysis is the SciArt 12-tonal system due to its unmatched accuracy and reliability compared to other methods. The SciArt method is based on the Munsell Colour System, which is an art system developed by master painter Albert Henry Munsell in the late 1800's.

I use the more basic methods (outlined on the previous page) of tonal analysis and 4-seasonal analysis only when the need arises. Not every person on planet earth can fit into any one system of colour analysis; no, not even into the mighty Sci-Art 12-tonal system! Humanity is far too diverse.

I am highly trained in the nuances of colour as a result of countless hours of personal study driven by a pure fascination by colour and its effects on our complexion. My husband once told me (endearingly) that he had never realised how much of a nerd I was until he witnessed me voluntarily purchase a $300 university textbook on the Munsell Colour System to read in my free time (this is a highly technical textbook discussing colour theory and its application in fine and applied art practices).

My approach is highly customized. The drapes that I use have been hand-picked by me from fabric stores and second-hand clothing stores because I wasn't completely happy with the accuracy of the professional drapes that you can buy online for a small fortune. My drapes have been carefully calibrated and categorised into the 12 tones by me to accurately reflect the principles found in the Munsell Colour System. They are truly one of my proudest possessions.

Using the SciArt method, I locate your unique combination of properties on the colour-sphere that is made up of the following three tonal scales:

Warm _____ Cool

Light _____ Deep

Clear _____ Muted

Go back to Home

my method

I then determine your location on the 12-tonal colour analysis wheel:

You may sit smack-dab in the middle of a colour category, or you might sit quite close to a neighboring season (for instance, your home season might be Light Summer but you sit really quite close to that Light Spring line), meaning I would customize your fabric swatch to also include some of the neighboring season's colours that looked best on you during the session.

Don't worry if you have no idea what I'm talking about; I will explain it all to you in an easy-to-understand way when you get here! You can rest assured that I will make it my aim to showcase your natural beauty in a way you might never have seen before, and I will empower you to recreate those results over and over once you've left the session and return to your daily life. Come and see!
