wardrobe audit in-person

This session functions at the top of its game when having done a colour analysis and a style essence analysis beforehand.

For the wardrobe audit, I'll come to your house and we'll dive into your wardrobe.

During the session I'll let you try on garments in a systematic way and help you identify the garments that are winners, the garments that no longer serve you (we'll put these on the donation pile) and the garments that have potential (these ones might simply need to be paired with newly-bought pieces).

I'll form new outfits from your existing wardrobe that you might not have thought of previously and I'll take photos of these outfits for you so you can have them on hand for future reference.

I'll also identify gaps in your wardrobe and make a rough shopping list draft of staple pieces uniquely suited to you that would tie your wardrobe together and make your morning routine easier.

This session will let you see your wardrobe with new eyes and allow some fresh energy to be infused into the space where you get ready every morning. The way you start your day matters!

Session run-time: approx. 4 hours
